THINKING ABOUT A CAREER IN HISTORY?

TEACHER
Educating the generations
Want to follow in your teacher’s footsteps? Share your historical expertise with students as you build their knowledge of historical concepts and events. Help them gain an understanding about local, national and global history through asking perceptive questions, thinking critically and developing a perspective on historical matters.

HISTORIAN (AUTHOR)
Go back in time
Delve into the when, what and who of events as you interpret history to shape or build upon public knowledge. Conducting research and analysis for governments, businesses, historical associations and other organisations, you’ll use a variety of sources in your work to build up an account of a certain event.

HISTORY TOUR GUIDE
Share your knowledge
Armed with a passion for protecting our surroundings, environmental consultants provide expert assessment and advice to reduce the harmful impacts of industrial, commercial and government schemes on the environment. These guys are like the superheroes of green living.

ARCHAEOLOGIST
Dig up the past
Grab your trowel and get digging! Study past human activity by excavating, dating and interpreting historical objects and sites. Artefacts can range from prehistoric tools and buildings to animal bones and tiny organisms.

MUSEUM CURATOR
Collect history
Similar to Pokémon, you’ve gotta catch ‘em all! Build up a collection of archives, artwork and artefacts and present them through exhibitions, publications and events.

HISTORIC BUILDING CONSERVATOR
Protecting the past
With a world rich in its collection of historic buildings, you’ll provide vital information and advice to encourage the preservation and enhancement of special historic, architectural or artistic buildings and structures.
