THAT GO BEYOND
what's in front of you

Inspiring tailor-made geography trips.

ICELAND | AZORES | ITALY | TENERIFE | SWITZERLAND | USA | SINGAPORE & MALAYSIA | UNITED KINGDOM

School Geography Trips are back!

2020 and 2021 certainly weren't what any of us anticipated, challenging us all in ways we could never have imagined. 2020 was shaping up to be our most successful year yet with exciting geography trips set to depart to destinations around the world including Iceland, The Netherlands, Switzerland and the USA.

Then the world came to a standstill...

But while the world stood still, we carried on and remodelled our business to keep our clients at the forefront of everything. We issued customer refunds amounting to £5,200,000 and our teams successfully postponed over 250 tours. We had a monumental 35,000 customers whose tour plans were affected. This is testament to our staff, our suppliers and schools all working patiently together and trusting that the outcome would be the best possible scenario for all.

So, when you choose Rayburn Tours, you're in safe hands and we believe we've proven it!

Looking to the future, we still firmly believe the best way to learn is through adventure. A school geography trip is your ticket to one of the richest educational experiences you can get – and it seems teachers agree! The appetite to travel is as strong as ever and we're seeing increased demand from school groups for 2022 trips even earlier than usual. Couple this with groups who postponed their 2020/21 geography trip to next year, and availability is already filling up.

So whether you've already got a destination in mind or you're looking for inspiration, we'll take the core objectives of your trip and build from the ground up, hand-crafting every element and wrapping it all up in one neat, Rayburn-stamped package.

ACCOMMODATION

We have a range of accommodation options to suit groups of any size and budget. From hostels and hotels to lodges and guesthouses, we've carefully selected each one to ensure they're right for school groups.

One size doesn't fit all...

We share sample itineraries in our brochures and on our website to give you an example of how your tour could look, but we pride ourselves on creating a tailor-made tour for you, based around your requirements and wishes. However big or small the request may seem, however specific your requirements are or aren't, we will build your tour around your objectives because that's the Rayburn Tours way!

Working together to build a truly tailor-made tour.

"We are looking to provide a fieldtrip to Iceland for A-level students. The trip would need to have the opportunity to carry out data collection either linked to glaciers or tectonic process to fit with the Edexcel A-level spec."

No problem! We're familiar with the various curricula and can suggest great opportunities to build in the some live data collection.

"I like to fit as much in for the pupils as possible and don't like when they have too much free time. Action packed is what I like to aim for on a trip."

Some teachers like to have a full, jam-packed itinerary, whilst others like to leave plenty of 'free time', this may depend on the age of students and the destination you are travelling to. Our Tour Co-ordinators are itinerary planning experts and will work closely with you to build the right itinerary for your group.

"On our last trip to Iceland we stayed at the Selfoss Hostel and would really like to stay there again if possible."

Whilst we can't guarantee your preferred hotel will have availability on your chosen dates, we will do our very best to facilitate any requests. We also often get requests to visit specific excursions, restaurants and leisure activities that were popular on previous tours, and this is something your Tour Coordinator will build into your itinerary and make the necessary arrangements.

Other requests we've facilitated for groups:

- ✓ Organised a cake to celebrate a birthday while on tour.
- ✓ Hired a beach volleyball court in Barcelona for an active afternoon at the beach.
- ✓ A Papal Audience whilst in Rome.

RECOMMENDED VISITS

Capri Day

Journey to the idyllic Isle of Capri, a haven of rugged seascapes, exquisite beauty and lavish living. Enjoy a ferry trip from Sorrento to the island and start exploring the smart settlements of Capri and Anacapri. Peruse its collection of swish cafes and designer boutiques, walking from the harbour area to the terraced farmland and orange orchards.

Pompeii & Herculaneum

Discover the excavated settlements of Pompeii and Herculaneum with a guided visit, where an expert guide will help bring the events of the 79 AD eruption to life with a moving commentary.

Amalfi Coast

The drive along the Amalfi Coast provides breathtaking views of limestone cliffs and villages clinging to the coastline. Explore the town of Amalfi and its winding alleyways and terraces of lemon trees, vines and olive groves.

Fondo Galatea

A guided visit of this typical Southern Italian, family-run working farm explains the farming methods and techniques practised for growing Mediterranean crops. Enjoy a mozzarella and local cheese production demonstration, as well as a pizza making session!

Vesuvius

A visit to this mighty stratovolcano highlights the potential dangers faced by the 2 million people living in its shadow. Walk to the immense crater rim to see sulphur-emitting fumaroles and solidified contortions of lava, pumice and tuff.

SAMPLE ITINERARY

DAY 1

- Morning ○ Flight to Naples

RECOMMENDED VISITS

Giardini Naxos

Naxos Bay provides excellent examples of coastal erosion and its consequences. The movement of beach sediment and previous unsuccessful attempts to manage the coastline can be appreciated, whilst new, more sustainable mitigation techniques can be evaluated.

Aeolian Islands

Explore the Aeolian Islands of Lipari, Vulcano and Stromboli on a scenic boat trip and discover their diverse volcanic terrain. Take a guided visit of Lipari, ascend to the summit of Gran Cratere and enjoy an evening cruise around Stromboli.

Etna Nord

See a different perspective of Etna by visiting the north side. A guide will lead you through the intriguing landscape of lava formed from the 2002 eruption where you'll see many visible craters, fissures and lava bombs.

Etna Sud

At the Silvestri Craters, take a short walk around the rim of one of the parasitic cones. Then visit the 7D experience simulating a volcanic eruption, before ascending by cable car and 4x4 truck to the best viewpoint of the active crater.

Alcantara Gorge

Visit the 150m-long Alcantara River Gorge where its impressive 50m-high gorge walls comprise of magnificent examples of dark grey columnar basalt. Great for investigating drainage basins and fluvial processes.

"Our best moment was on the summit of Etna, getting within 5 metres of a moving lava flow."

Melanie Lockheart, Itchen College

Gruta do Carvão Lava Tube

This lava tube provides a fascinating insight into the movement of basalt lava flows. Believed to have formed 5,000-12,000 years ago, the cave's surface varies from smooth to rough, with orange and red-toned black basalt.

Lagoa do Fogo & Caldeira Velha

The Agua de Pau stratovolcano consists of two calderas, one of which is filled with the Lagoa do Fogo. Enjoy impressive views over the lake and visit the natural monument of Caldeira Velha – full of fumaroles and hot springs.

Sete Cidades

The volcanic complex of Sete Cidades boasts an almost circular caldera rim with breathtaking green-blue lakes. Explore the town of the same name by foot or bike, which rests on the floor of the caldera beside the lake.

Furnas Valley

Surrounded by towering hills and lush green vegetation, the Furnas Valley is set within the caldera of the Furnas volcano and experienced the largest explosive eruption of the Azores in 1630.

Field Study Tutors

A Field Study Tutor is a great way to get more out of your trip. With specialist knowledge of the Azores and its geographical features, they'll tailor their teaching to your group and focus on the areas that are most relevant to you.

The Berneuse

From the summit area of the Berneuse Mountain, admire breathtaking views of the Rhone Valley, Lake Geneva and the Alps. Across this immense Alpine fold mountain range you'll see strata, bedding planes, simple folds, overfolds and nappes.

Glacier 3000

The Glacier 3000 mountain station offers a great introduction to the formation and characteristics of fold mountains. Walk over the 107m-long Peak Walk suspension bridge and admire views of Mont Blanc, the Matterhorn, the Jungfrau and the Eiger.

Mer de Glace

Take the funicular train to the viewing platform at Montenvers to admire wonderful panoramas over the glacier, as well as recognise features of an active, glaciated Alpine environment, before descending to the mouth of the ice cave.

Langgletscher

A walk along the Lötschental Valley (towards the still active snout of the Lang Glacier) reveals surrounding landscapes and landforms that perfectly illustrate the theory of glacial processes, where you can identify a selection of glacial features.

High Atlas Mountains

Journey across this massive mountain range – from the Marrakech Plain via the high Tizi-n-Tichka Pass – to see the dramatic contrast in physical and human landscapes. Think plate tectonics, fold mountain formation, rejuvenated rivers and classic incised meanders.

The Ultimate Sleepover

Journey by camel to the Saharan sand dunes and spend the night under the stars in a Bedouin-style encampment! Constructed as an exact replica of the original style, you'll enjoy an evening of traditional food, singing and drumming.

Marrakech

The vibrant city of Marrakech shows many characteristics of urban areas in the developing world. Consider aspects of urban change and evaluate strategies implemented to clear slum housing and improve living conditions.

Douar Oulad Elguern

Take part in traditional daily activities in this rural village, where you'll consider the challenges faced and how they can be overcome. A truly unique experience that'll bring development geography to life.

Field Study Tutors

Your Field Study Tutor will help give meaning to the intriguing landscape, culture and traditions; challenge existing thinking; and open your students' eyes to the realities of life in a developing country. They'll also help students to engage with the issues and encourage discussion and debate about their experiences.

RECOMMENDED VISITS

Grand Canyon

Discover a geological story that dates back over almost 2 billion years. Follow the South Rim Trail for breathtaking scenes of colourful geology and erosional landforms that are overwhelming in their vastness.

Bryce Canyon National Park

Erosion has shaped colourful limestones, sandstones and mudstones into thousands of wavy spires, fins, pinnacles and mazes – collectively called 'hoodoos'. Start with the view from an overlook, then get down amongst the hoodoos as you hike along a loop trail.

Horseshoe Bend

Enjoy the spectacular view over Horseshoe Bend, where you can appreciate the combination of fluvial and geological processes responsible for the formation of this magnificent incised meander.

Glen Canyon Dam

A tour of the great Glen Canyon Dam will help you to evaluate the costs and benefits of river basin management programmes.

Field Study Tutors

A Field Study Tutor will help make sense of the vast periods of geological time involved and explain the processes responsible for the formation of such iconic sites as the Grand Canyon, Horseshoe Bend and Death Valley. They'll encourage students to look beyond the camera to see what's in front of them and absorb this spectacular environment.

United Kingdom

A great stepping stone to an international geography trip, our short, budget-friendly UK trips give students fantastic opportunities to conduct fieldwork and data collection without travelling too far from home. With the events of the last year, our UK geography trips are becoming a popular choice for groups later in 2021.

North Wales

Snowdonia is an inspiring and memorable location in which to undertake geography fieldwork. The area provides some of the UK's best examples of glacial and post glacial processes and their role in shaping the landscape of today. In just a couple of days, you can explore parts of Snowdonia National Park, take the Mountain Railway to the Summit, Visit Nant Ffrancon and the corrie of Cwm Idwal.

Liverpool

Study the impact of regeneration strategies, explore the meaning and representation of place and unearth the concept of social inequality in the bustling city of Liverpool. This trip includes learning resources and opportunities for data collection. Why not combine your trip to Liverpool with a day of physical fieldwork in either Snowdonia or along the Sefton Coast?

Cornwall and the South West

This area of the UK offers spectacular beaches and coastline, and the landscape of Cheddar Gorge provides a dramatic backdrop for learning about the effects of water on the landscape as well as land use and economic activity. The distinctive limestone scenery is an ideal learning environment. Visit the famous biomes of the Eden Project and explore the Lost Gardens of Heligan – your learning opportunities are endless!

London

This constantly changing city is a great place for students to study urban change and regeneration. Visit Stratford and the Olympic Park where students can evaluate regeneration strategies and assess their sustainability and, for a wider breadth of study, investigate the water cycle, wetland habitats and the species they support at the London Wetland Centre.
